CUE FOR FUN

Talent Show Is Postponed Indefinitely

Coleman Board of Trade executive leaders at their meeting Thursday that the proposed talent show "S. S. Coleman" has been postponed indefinitely. It was learned that the committee planning the show had dropped from 15 planned numbers to seven as the result of the population shift. The committee felt that unless a top grade show could be produced they would rather postpone the project.

Vice-president John Owen, who has directed the board since the resignation of President Allen, tendered his resignation due to pressure of business. A committee comprised of F. Aboussey, O. Celii, H. Allen and J. R. Hill was appointed to select a new president.

Council News

Coleman town council members attending the regular meeting on Wednesday evening heard Mayor Frank Aboussey and Deputy Mayor Jock Ramsey commend the provincial government for their efforts turned towards trying to rehabilitate unemployed miners, and ease the unemployment situation in Coleman that has arisen with the shutdown of one Coleman mine and the triple plant.

Deputy Mayor Ramsey, who has been spearheading Coleman organizations in meetings with the government committees, stated he had received a letter requesting that he attend a meeting to be held in Edmonton on Monday, May 10, at which time Minister of Industries and Labor, M. Willmore, would be present. Since Mayor Frank Aboussey recently had returned from a trip to the U. S. A. over the weekend, he also accompanied Mr. Ramsey to the capital city.

Mr. Ramsey informed the council that attending the three-hour meeting in Edmonton were Minister Willmore, Deputy Minister J. E. Oberholzer, Mine Director J. A. Dutton, W. A. R. Rees, director of single men's relief; J. A. Ferguson, provincial immigration supervisor; W. Whittacker, supervisor of the Western Coal Operators Association; Mr. Cave, of the Edmonton National Employment Service, and John Stokoluk, and J. Susmar, of District 18 of the UMWU. Mr. Ramsey added that a progressive report of the committee investigating that had visited Coleman recently, was given. The report showed that 301 men had registered with the committee and that when registering that 47 had indicated their willingness to accept farm work and five had signified that they would accept this as a last resort. Included in the 300 unemployed were 233 married men and 66 single. Out of the registration that took place so far 30-men have gained successful employment.

For the younger men that have become unemployed it was suggested that the possibility of a vocational training course may be considered, to give these young men the opportunity to re-establish themselves in other work. While taking the training it was made understood that should employment come up they would be obliged to accept this employment and return to vocational training on cessation of the employment. Mr. Ramsey also pointed out that if employment for miners was possible in other fields that the miners would be given some preference. In conclusion to his report Mr. Ramsey added that the government are leaving no stones unturned in their work in trying to re-establish miners. Mr. Ramsey also stated that he was informed by a government official to tell the people of Coleman that this situation which has arisen will not be forgotten or let ride by the government.

Mr. Aboussey then commended Mr. Ramsey for an excellent report and for the untiring efforts Mr. Ramsey has put forth towards assisting his fellow miners to which he added that Mr. Ramsey was held in high esteem by the government officials that had met with Mr. Ramsey. To conclude the report both men signified their true belief that the government are doing all possible and are centering their attention towards aiding the coal industry.

With the meeting now directed towards immediate business, three new directors were elected by vote to the Coleman Light and Water Company. They are Geo. Jenkins, one year; Mayor F. Aboussey, two years, and Walter Dibblee, two years.

A letter will be sent to the director of assessments indicating that the town of Coleman were in favor of having a government assessor make out the assessment in 1954 for 1955 taxes.

An appointment will be made with the Coleman Collieries for the purpose of trying to arrange a lease on some property in the vicinity of the town park.

The various committees were requested to prepare an estimate of their expenditures for forthcoming year in order that council can set the mill rate for this year.

Council then accepted the hospital requisition for this year in the amount of $10,187.55.

A curfew law will be enforced.

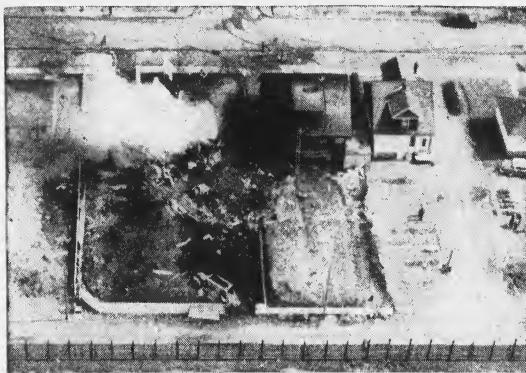

Hose Laying Contest July 1st

The Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade has this week announced that the annual hose coupling competition will be held in Coleman on July 1. Invitations will be sent out this week to fire fighting teams all over the southern part of the province giving the outsiders an opportunity to enter the annual competition.

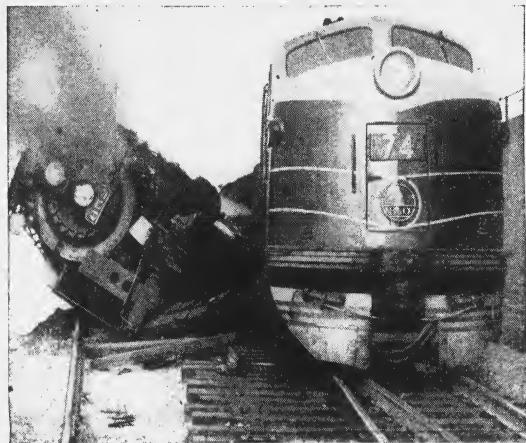

The brigade have during the past week received a 400 gallon tank and carrier for fighting fires in the Willow Drive and the East Coleman district in the improvement area which are not serviced with fire hydrants. The 400 gallon tank will be used while firemen are stretching out hoses and locating a water supply when fighting fire in either of the two areas. The tank and carrier was furnished by the government for the ID district.

People shop where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

SCENE OF CANADA'S WORST PLANE DISASTER—Thirty-seven persons lost their lives when a TCA North Star airliner and a RCAF Harvard trainer collided in the air over Moose Jaw, Sask., recently. The aerial view above shows a part of the smoldering ruins of the crash. Among those killed were Rodney Adamson, Conservative Member of Parliament for York West. Mrs. Adamson, who was accompanying her husband to Calgary where he was scheduled to make a speech. T. M. "Pat" Reid, whose legend while flying as a bush pilot in Canada's north will be forever remembered and Mrs. Reid who was accompanying the Imperial Oil executive.

A TWENTY-FIVE CAR freight train, pulled by a steam engine, moved onto the main line near Nickel Plate Terminal in Cleveland before a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train from Washington had cleared the switch. No one was injured, but the steam engine was left leaning over the edge of a 50-foot embankment.

A "DENNIS THE MENACE" DOLL is as mischievous as the comic strip character it's modeled after. When its cowlick is pressed down, as five-year-old Glenn Sitterly is doing here, the doll's silver-plated pistol squirts water.

EARL VAILS, California flyweight champion, does not mind getting stuck on Tommy Harrison, of Los Angeles, Calif., and KO'd him at 2:36 of the first round. It was sweet revenge for the 25-year-old boxer who got a decision to his credit in January. It was his 26th KO in 35 pro fights and the 16th in the first round.

PUTTERING AROUND—Wearing a pert Scots tam and a sunny smile, lovely Ruth Hampton briefs herself on the golfer's point of view in Las Vegas, Nev. The shapely actress is studying for her role as queen of the forthcoming $35,000 Tournament of Champions there.

"SEWING" OF PRESIDENT—Mamie Eisenhower sees many portraits of her husband, but this one was different. So she invited to the White House the artist, 24-year-old Maria Esther Carrera, left, of Chihuahua, Mexico. The portrait was done on muslin on an old-fashioned treadle sewing machine.

KEEPING WARM—At chicken farms throughout Europe, incubators are at a premium, so scenes like the above are not uncommon. These six-hour-old chicks seem quite content in the arms of a young Hamburg, Germany, lass. And she seems quite content, too.

A COUPLE OF WATCHDOGS give each other the once over. One is J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation, the other is Holly Springs of Ballerina, a boxer entered in a dog show being held in Washington.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Wake Up, Lydia

By F. T. Martin

I'M not one to talk," whined Lydia Doolittle. "But it's gone!"

Beady eyes squinted with glee as she glanced furtively around the post office. She watched the effect of her words on the clerk. Satisfied, she clutched a handful of skirt and hobbled toward the door.

"Suddenly she stopped. 'My lane!'" she squeaked.

One of the posters on the bulletin board bore front and side view pictures of a man. Reward was offered for information leading to the capture of the notorious John Brady, wanted for armed robbery.

The younger Doolittle adjusted her ancient spectacles.

"My eyes ain't what they was," she muttered, "but if that don't look like that Smith feller who's been hangin' around, it's good somebody in Coltville is awake."

The clerk left the stamp window for a moment. Temptation and opportunity struck together. So did Lydia. With a darting clasp, she snatched the notice, thrust it into the folds of her clothing, and went.

"Ain't nobody a-goin' to get credit for catchin' this John Smith but me," she snorted. "Trouble is nobody's awake in this town. That's why we have only one fat-tor!"

Miss Doolittle did 't like John Smith. He had registered at the hotel, two weeks ago and no one seemed to know anything about him. All he did was wander around Coltville or go here and there. He had been seen at the railroad station one day, along the river bank on the next, or around the factory on another.

"I know it!" she cackled. "The factory! They're paying the yearly bonus next week and I'll bet that Brady alias Smith has his eye on it."

Mr. Boswell, the barber, was standing outside when she passed.

"Afternoon, Miss Lydia," he called.

"You look a mite flustered.

Anything wrong?"

"There's plenty wrong, Will Boswell," snapped Lydia, "but you'd never know it sunnin' yourself in that cat. As a councilman you would be thinkin' about ways to prop up business around here."

"Now, Lydia . . ."

"'Ow?" whispered the spinner, "ya way to keep criminals off the streets."

The barber leaned forward. "Know sompin'?"

"'Mebbe," answered Lydia.

"Mebbe he shouldn't be walkin' in the streets a free man.

Good day."

Miss Doolittle made six stops along the way home and six more cryptic remarks about John Smith. By supper time, her phone was ringing steadily. But she would say no more.

"At the proper time," she told everyone, "I'll speak my piece."

The situation, thought Lydia, was made to order.

"The factory payroll delivery was next Thursday. The Coltville Business Improvement Committee meeting was also Thursday. She would wait until then before telling the police. She smiled as she pinched herself, marching into Grange Hall with the mysterious Mr. Smith in tow.

"Humph! Even his name sounds fakey!"

Coltville began to buzz. People remarked that Mr. Smith did look as though he had a criminal face. But if John Smith used such a face, he didn't show it. He continued his walks, and minded his own business.

On Thursday, Miss Doolittle was also minding his business. She was in the sheriff's office, waving her paper and demanding that "the police wake up."

The sheriff waited for her to finish talking. Then he led her to the hall.

"Someone needs wakin' up," he said quietly.

"B-but the p-p-payroll," stam-

The worried man appealed to the psychiatrist: "You've got to help me doctor! All day long I want to eat grapes."

"Well, think nothing of that," soothed the doctor. "Everybody eats grapes."

"Off the wallpaper?"

"Bath," and I for long-suffering husband, you promised you wouldn't buy a new dress. What made you do it?"

"Dear," replied the modern Eve, "the devil tempted me."

"Why didn't you say: 'Get the behind me, Satan?'" the poor man inquired.

"I did," the woman replied, sweetly, "and then he whispered over my shoulder: 'My dear, it fits you just beautifully at the back!'"

"Where the dickens have you been?" his employer demanded when at long last the lad sauntered in.

"In the post office, sir."

"And does that take you two hours to post a letter?"

"I beg your pardon, sir," said the lad with some heat. "Three letters!"

Manitoba Hereford Bull Sold To Alberta For $4,000

BRANDON, Man.—Viking RJM 4th, R. J. McClement's big Hereford bull which swept the top honors list at the recent Manitoba Winter Fair, has been sold to the McIntyre Ranching Company of Alberta for $4,000. Releasing this news, Mr. McClement said selling a Manitoba bull to one of the biggest Hereford ranches in Alberta was like taking cattle to Newcastle.

"This is a real spot on the back," breeder have bought Manitoba for a short time," he said, explaining that traditionally Alberta is the home of Herefords in Canada and rarely does an Alberta breeder, especially one as big as McIntyre, buy an outside bull for a herd sire.

Ralph Thrall, present owner of the McIntyre ranch, required a new herd sire after his former sire won the recent Calgary bull sale show grand championship.

He chose the McClement bull after receiving information regarding it from the Winter Fair judges.

"Some of the more important Alberta ranchers are casting their eyes at Manitoba herds," said Mr. McClement. He sold another bull, Fieldman, to a Rimby, Alta., breeder two years ago, and it later won the Herford grand championship at the Toronto Royal Fair.

Well, folks, we are back again with a little more news.

Two weeks ago Mr. Appleby, the District Commissioner, showed a film on "Boy Scouts Jamboree of 1933". Sure was a lovely film and was worth seeing. Most of the boys will try their hand at cooking and lighting fires to complete their second class test.

The boys will be around next Saturday May 22, collecting old newspapers to sell to the florists. Anyone having any old newspaper they wish to get rid of, please tie them in a bundle and the boys will call for them.

CONSERVATION

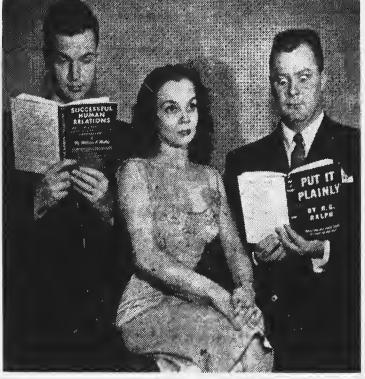

Common to all Canada is the current problem of Conservation. Which is not to say that it follows the same pattern, because while the old settled sections of the east are struggling to replace thoughtless waste of natural resources, which followed the cutting of the forests and settling the land, the outposts of today are trying not to commit the offences and to plan ahead for the generations who will have to live when the wealth of today has been harvested and spent.

Conservation is sometimes described as an inadequate term for many activities which it embraces. But it is not so far out, at that. In the early days of Canada, our grandmothers made a special preserve called a "conservé". It gathered the riches of the harvest of fruits, tied it all up together and added a sufficient quantity of sugar to make sure that it would keep against the cold days of winter when fresh fruit was not available.

She used it up during the winter, but in her thrifty habits as housewife and gardener she still had, year after year, the fruits from the well tended bushes from which to make her "conservé".

The preservation of these natural resources is the first duty of those who are organized these days under the banner of Conservation. They will make good farms, fine forests, beautiful parks which will be used and still preserved for generations to come. They will be the best fruits of the Conservation movement "done down" for the perpetual use and enjoyment of Canadians.

CUE FOR FUN

Songstress Joyce Hahn plays buffer to the ideas being culled by Bill Bankier (left) and Frank Heron (right) from current literature in a vain attempt to prevent the inevitable explosion of wit, mirth, and zany antics when the two comics get together every Tuesday evening on the CBC Trans-Canada network for their show, "Cue for Fun." In support of Bankier, Heron and the charming Miss Hahn are tenor Fred Hill, the Bob Hahn Vocal Quintet, and Art Morris who conducts his 18-piece orchestra. The show, which features a guest artist every week, is broadcast before an audience in the Westhill High School Auditorium in Montreal.

SAVING TO SAVE

The old adage, "A penny saved is a penny earned," is obviously still recognized as a principle by The Salvation Army. Among today's money-saving agencies The Salvation Army must surely hold a foremost place. Its economic use of public monies alone would warrant this admission.

No one, however, can measure the saving to a nation when a derelict is steered back into channels of usefulness. Consider any country's bill of expense for the maintenance of penal institutions, a bill that runs annually into millions of dollars. Think of the similar sum that is spent so that the machinery of law might operate smoothly and efficiently. Yet little of these vast amounts ever find their way back into the national exchequer.

In its work The Salvation Army often accepts responsibility for keeping a man out of prison and seeing that he "goes straight." The Army also undertakes to rehabilitate the man who has served his time. He is thus saved from becoming a financial liability (not to mention any other kind of liability) to the community by spending months or years in various institutions at the taxpayer's expense.

Here is no doubt that but for the human-salvage operations of movements like The Salvation Army, the country's finances would be increasingly burdened. Taxes might even be higher than they are!

Tourist Business is Your Business, Because it's EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS.

Whatever you happen to do for a living, whether you work in industry, farming, trade or some other business or profession, you can be sure that some part of your income comes from VISITORS to your community or to your country.

Visitor expenditures are larger and involve a wider range of purchases than most people realize. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, American visitors alone spent $232,000,000 in Canada in 1953. To this should be added the $20,000,000 spent by other visitors to Canada and the huge amount (so far never calculated) spent by Canadians themselves on interprovincial and international visits and travel.

An estimate of how the American dollars are spent is given. This shows only the primary distribution of tourist expenditure.

These first recipients of tourist dollars must in their turn go on to buy supplies, employ labor, pay taxes, etc. This results in a secondary distribution of much of each dollar, benefiting many other parts of the economy.

The tourist business therefore is a source of livelihood for many Canadian people and a major factor in Canadian economic development. Its problems concern both community and nation, and its future requires increasing public awareness of tourist needs. When you support tourist trade development you are MINDING YOUR BUSINESS.

What Brings Tourist Business?

Every part of Canada has its own distinctive blend of scenery and wildlife, of human history and ways of life, of recreations, crafts, cuisine and entertainment. These natural and human attractions are what tourists travel to see. It's just Minding YOUR Business to conserve and develop them and then to tell the world about them.

Canada's great tourist attractions are chiefly and extensively advertised by the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, by Provincial Government Travel Authorities and by the major rail, air, water and road transportation organizations.

These Canadian advertisers have to compete with a continuously growing volume of advertising aimed at potential American and Canadian tourists by various other countries, and especially by the various states of the United States itself.

If all parts of Canada are to set their proper share of visitor patronage, a great deal of supplementary tourist promotion work must be done by regional and community organizations and individual local businesses.

What You Can Do For Your Tourist Business

You can help maintain the fine reputation of Canada or of your particular part of it. Your tourist business depends on the goodwill of visitors. As a businessman, a community leader, or ... a man-in-the-street or citizen, you are Minding YOUR Business when you:

Encourage needed improvements and highest standards of cleanliness, attractiveness, efficiency and courtesy in all services used by tourists, including ...

- rail, air, water and road transportation.
- retailers including stores, service stations, restaurants, etc.
- all types of accommodation, including hotels.

motels, resorts and camps.

—such public services as washrooms, information booths, etc.

Support publicity programs that attract tourists to your area.

Promote development of tourist attractions such as historic sites, community parks, festivals and other special events.

Practice conservation of all recreational resources.

At all times are courteous, co-operative and helpful to travellers and visitors. It is in the best interests of everyone to make visitors want to stay longer, want to come back again, and want to recommend the places they have visited to other people.

Better Service is One Basic Answer to Many Tourist Business Problems.

Practice and Preach It At Every Opportunity.

COURTEOUS DRIVING IS SAFE DRIVING

Courteous driving is automatically safe driving. People who will step aside to let another go ahead through a doorway, will not give an inch to another car on a crowded highway. Many drivers have two personalities—unfortunately, the best one is often left at home when a motorist takes the car out of the garage. Nice people can change into frightening monsters when they get behind the wheel of an automobile.

"It seems that in every situation except behind the wheel of a car, the polite individual considers it a privilege to step aside for others to pass," said Harry Duker, Chairman of the B.C. Automobile Association Traffic and Safety Committee. "These things are done automatically because they come naturally. BUT what comes naturally, in any other phase of day-to-day activity, seems too big an effort once a driver steps into his car."

Observe the following B.C. A.A. suggestions, for courteous driving is safe driving:

- 1) Yield the right of way to other drivers and to pedestrians.
- 2) Share the road by driving in the proper lane.
- 3) Allow plenty of clearance when passing.
- 4) Always signal what you are going to do.
- 5) Give the motorist at an intersection a break—stop to let him through.

"Courtesy is contagious. Think of others when driving and be safe," said Mr. Duker.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

The average female visiting a provincial or national park suffers from "spectatoritis", a noted naturalist told me recently.

That is, they enjoy the scenery, but miss many of the subtleties a park has to offer. The most exciting discoveries in a park are found under rocks, among the ferns and grasses, in the streams or in the trees.

My scientific friend takes his four children out on "bring-em-back-alive" park trips several times a year. For instance, when they are near a brook, the children wade through it with cheesecloth or wire sieves catching tadpoles, cray fish or minnows. With the same equipment they run through a field collecting insects. Where the conservation laws permit, they pick wild flowers, leaves or rock specimens.

Their park visit is one grand treasure hunt. But the treasures are supplied free by generous Mother Nature. And the children are stimulated by their own curiosity to learn more about their finds when they get home.

Incidentally with some forms of wild life, camera traps can be a fine substitute for personal observation. Just rig a camera and flash attachment, triggered by bait, before retiring. Night-feeding animals will take the bait and their pictures are taken at the same time.

The staffs of Museums and Department of Lands and Forests plan scientific adventures. Perhaps they can help you season four families' Summer trip with some simplified science!

A boyhood ambition was realized the first day Frank Herbert took his place before a CBC microphone. At the age of seventeen, Herbert had decided to become a radio announcer due to, as he put it, "the prospect of being paid merely for talking". In the years that followed, he found that there was more to announcing than he first presumed, and it was only after he had studied speaking in his spare time that he reached his goal. Since 1943 he has been featured regularly as a newscaster and commentator on CBC networks.

He, unfortunately, looks into his future, looking at the past. He's still trying to live in the past and apparently is afraid of the future.

And unfortunately there are apt to be several merchants and business men who will imitate the crab and not join the ranks of the new, up-to-the-minute business men who are planning for the future and have already made plans for new methods of merchandising. RCAF To Use Neptune Aircraft In Maritime

(Statement by Hon. Brooke
Claxton, Min. of Nat. Defence)

Arrangements have been made for the RCAF to acquire Neptune aircraft for use by its Maritime squadrons. The Neptune is a twin engine, medium range, pistondriven aircraft in use for some time by the U.S. navy and also in use as a maritime reconnaissance aircraft by the RAF. It is manufactured by Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of Burbank, Calif., and the RCAF aircraft will be obtained from that company by arrangement with the U.S. navy.

The first Neptunes are expected to be taken over by the RCAF towards the end of 1954 or early in 1955.

RAF maritime requirements call for two new types of aircraft to replace the Lancasters now used by the squadron, and to meet needs arising from the increasing importance of this type of air operation, and the development of new airborne weapons. These requirements call for both an aircraft of the Neptune type, and for a larger aircraft with a greater carrying capacity. In connection with this latter type, the RCAF has decided to convert the Bristol Britannia, designed as a maritime patrol plane to meet RCAF requirements.

Initially the Neptunes will likely supplement the Lancasters now in maritime service, rather than replace them completely. Some thought we were crazy taking holidays early in May. On returning home to cold weather we feel justified in taking the jaunt and seeing the southwest area resplendent in its sunshine and fruit blossoms.

Following are statistics on the Neptune:

Wing span 104 feet; length 91¹/₂ feet, height 29 feet; cruising speed 225 m.p.h. (approximately); all-up weight 72,000 pounds; range 4700 miles; power, two Wright turbo-cyclone compounded engines of 3500 h.p. each (at take-off); armament: (a) two pairs of 20 mm cannon in nose and tail turrets.

(b) two 0.50 mm machine guns in dorsal turret.
(c) Sixteen 5 inch rockets.
Bomb load, 4800 pounds.

Farm, Forest Revenue At New High During 1953

Farm and forest revenue in the fast-growing Creston - Wynndel district headed over the $3,500,000 mark during 1953.

Lumber production was estimated at $1,250,000 in the Creston area and $400,000 in Wynndel for a combined total of $1,650,000.

Farm products were in the vicinity of $2,000,000, with wheat valued at $561,928; coarse grains at $146,330; hay at $98,700; peas at $47,200; power, poultry and eggs, $75,500 — totaling in all $869,758.

No estimates were available for Creston's new hop growing industry.

Fruit estimates were $429,200 for apples; $442,650 for other fruit and $3,000 for honey — a total of $874,800.

Farm population in the Creston Valley district was 4000; and employed were 2200 persons, it was estimated. In operation were 3500 farms with 39,000 acres of land under cultivation. Field crops took up 20,000 acres and 5000 acres were in fallow.

Survey of cattle showed there were 1500 head; 1000 swine; 300 sheep and a poultry flock of 6000.

Average grain yields ran 40 bushels to the acre for wheat; 65 for oats, 45 for barley and 20 for flax, while peas were estimated at 1400 pounds to the acre.

Shipped daily by rail and by truck were 500 gallons of milk.

Hay grown in the Lister district (Association only) estimated at $200 tons. Much of this is being shipped out of the district.

The lumbering industry employed 200 at Creston and 70 at Wynndel. Payroll estimated at $600,000 and $200,000. About 7,000,000 feet board measure of lumber were produced in Creston and 2,300,000 f.b.m. in Wynndel; in Creston 900,000 apple boxes were manufactured; 300,000 in Wynndel.

Creston district's fertile lands have also been chosen for experimental growing of hops and peppermint, for peppermint oil.

There are two grain elevators here and one at Wynndel, each with a capacity of 250,000 bushels.

Announcing a Revolutionary New Gasoline Advancement By TEXACO

New Sky Chief is now Super-Charged with PETROX — an exclusive, petroleum-base element — to give you a new kind of gasoline that delivers MAXIMUM POWER . . . yet actually CUTS ENGINE WEAR!

GREATER SPEEDS and increased stop-and-start driving brought about the need for a new kind of gasoline.

Texaco engineers worked on this problem. They succeeded far beyond our early hopes. Through intensive research they developed a new petroleum-base element — PETROX — and with it have produced a new kind of gasoline.

Here are the astonishing facts, confirmed by more than a million miles of tests. The new Sky Chief, Super-Charged with PETROX, gives you:

1. MAXIMUM POWER yet actually cuts engine wear. How? By protecting valves, valve guides and valve seats, pistons and piston rings against wear, glazing and harmful deposits. For example, on test cars using new Sky Chief, ring wear alone was reduced up to 45%! Spark plug life and efficiency were prolonged over 300%. This kind of protection means maximum driving power is delivered to your wheels where it belongs — instead of out the exhaust pipe.

2. A CLEANER, SMOOTHER ENGINE. Intake system deposits were cut down by as much as 38%. This kind of engine cleanliness, with new Sky Chief, means knock-free performance. From your first tankful you'll notice a new smoothness, a new responsiveness when you step on the gas; quicker starts, quicker warm-ups, faster get-aways, knock-free power to spare for highway and hill.

3. VISIBLE ECONOMY . . . Engines die because they burn themselves out. This new Sky Chief Gasoline, Super-Charged with PETROX, keeps your engine younger. That's why you get maximum power and that's how you cut down wear — and repair bills. That's why you get the extra mileage, real extra mileage that you can check on your speedometer.

At The End Of Nowhere

The knock on the door in the middle of the night means trouble anywhere. But when someone has come miles and miles its double trouble.

And it was literally that for Miss Sarah Miller, R.N., nurse in charge of the Red Cross Outpost Hospital at Balfour on Vancouver Island.

The knock came at 5:00 a.m. It was a woman in labor—and in a hurry. So much of a hurry that Nurse Miller didn't have time to turn on the lights in the hospital, she used the flashlight she had snapped up when she got out of bed. But, as she has often done, her report to Miss Lilian MacMillan director of Outpost Hospitals for the Red Cross read, "Baby delivered safely and both mother and baby well."

All Red Cross hospitals could be termed at the end of nowhere, as this is their purpose, to give nursing care where there are no other facilities. The nurses who staff these hospitals while they have up-to-date medication and equipment often work under conditions approaching the pioneering efforts of our forefathers.

They use every mode of transportation from cars to snow shoes. Miss Miller often takes journeys to the remote lighthouse at Cape Beale on the southwest corner of Vancouver Island.

She goes in a lifeboat and changes in mid-ocean to a smaller boat which will get her through a small gap in the rocks leading to the lighthouse where she keeps a watchful eye on a patient who has high blood pressure.

Her Spartan life can be equalled in almost all of the other nine Red Cross hospitals scattered throughout B.C. Cecil Lake closed at the end of the year was approaching its 20th year of operation. Transportation and population had grown so in that time, that the hospital was no longer needed in its outport capacity and patients could easily get into Ft. St. John to hospital there. But should an outbreak or emergency happen in that area, Miss MacMillan points out that five married former Red Cross nurses live up there and would be ready to swing into action.

Nurse Sophia Smith really should have taken a course in veterinary work according to Miss MacMillan. She frequently is called upon to save up dogs clawed by cougars near Kyuquot. That's cougar country where the women think nothing of shooting cougars on their back porches.

"It's really isolated," says Miss MacMillan and adds, "the mother of all storms must live right up there."

Much of the work is done on the nearby Indian reservation. A call for Nurse Smith brings her out in her hip boots and into a fishing boat, from whence she is transferred into an Indian canoe then she wades the last bit into shore if the weather is rough.

Nurse Molly Lee at Hudson Hope nursing station away up north has more work to do now with the influx of population due to oil drilling in the area. It all creates more work for the Red Cross outpost and once again transportation difficulties like mud and snow are experienced.

Mrs. Jean Mackie nurse at Lone Butte has had some harrowing experiences with logging and other accidents. Last fall she had a call to a fishing lodge in the Cariboo 30 miles away from her hospital where an American dentist was stricken with a coronary thrombosis. Off she went with her oxygen and medication, nursed him for 48 hours without stop then carried on visits twice a day for three weeks until he was able to be flown back home.

The spirit of the woman in the covered wagon lives in these Red Cross nurses. Theirs is a hard life, but a good life in the satisfaction it brings to the distressed in time of need.

"Produced by Jackie Rae" has long been the signature for many of the CBC's top variety shows.

Best known for his handling of the Wayne and Shuster show, he also master minds many other mirth and melody programs including Mr. Show Business. The 31 year old producer can call on a wealth of experience; he was on the stage at the age of three and has been actively engaged in show business ever since. Turning his spare time to song writing Rae with partner Lou Snider, hit the jackpot a short time back with the popular ballad "Valley of the Saints".

Prairie Tree Planting Car Opens Annual Tour

It all began 34 years ago [prairie farm life. The steady increase in the use of trees for both rural and urban planting gives promise that the once bleak and open prairie is slowly giving way to a land of beauty and protection provided by prairie tree planting. The future will see much greater use of trees, along our highways, as living snow-fences, and in community undertakings for recreation.]

The success of our tree planting campaign has been due to the generous co-operation extended this undertaking by the press, radio and a great many individuals and organizations. We hope this work, devoted to improving the living conditions and opportunities of our western people, may continue to merit the widespread and effective assistance it has always enjoyed.

This year the family to treat your pipes with proper respect, make a rack for them that will do them proud and let it include a humidifier drawer that will keep your favorite tobacco moist. The large of these two pipe racks also has a handy drawer for pipe cleaners and odds and ends. It is seventeen inches high, twelve inches wide and displays a dozen pipes. The pipes are made of pine, width but only two-thirds as high and holds a half-dozen. Clear pine or any wood that takes a high polish would be the kind to use. The humidifiers are air-tight glass jars. The pattern shows the truing diagrams for the shaped parts as well as the steps in assembling and finishing. Ask for pattern 406 and enclose 35¢.

You can make this cement bird bath. The mold for forming the concrete is a simple job using common mason's lath, little cement sand and gravel are all you need for the concrete mix. The pattern gives just how to use the lath to get the futed effect of the pedestal, and the octagonal basin. Once the forms are made the materials for the concrete mix are all you need for the concrete mix. The pattern gives actual-size guides for preparing the molds as well as the formula for the concrete; and the construction steps are illustrated.

A few bird houses and feeders are sure to attract the songsters. A number of interesting designs are included in the Bird House packet which is priced at 35¢. The bath pattern 227 only is 35¢ postpaid.

Some Tips For Sprinters

The following are a few tips that the young sprinter (or the tennis or baseball player) can use to help give them that extra yard or two.

(1) Keep your chest high and your stomach well in when running as such a posture frees your hip area from any restriction and helps you to move those legs faster. Learn to "run tall".

(2) Keep your knees ahead of your feet. Don't reach with your feet. Concentrate on bringing your body through quickly, trying to point them ahead as they come through. This will give you an ideal driving leg action.

(3) Learn to go loose and easy by doing lots of alternate tenses and loose bursts. Run with your arms tight for a few yards and then let them go loose and easy for another short distance. Alternating in this way will teach you the difference between tension and relaxation and also teach you to keep loose. Remember - relaxation in action is a key to top efficiency.

Don't Pull Away When Swinging

According to a recent moving picture study of big league hitters, one of the most common hitting faults is pulling away as the swing is made. In other words, the hitter, trying to get extra power, pulls his head and shoulders away to the side. This spoils the level swing of the bat, pulling it up and away from the ball and also means the eyes have been taken off the flight of the ball. Learn to keep your head down and over the ball until it is hit. Have a pal check your swing to see if you "pull away".

A Famous Diet Considers Diet

Bill Linsky, Secretary of the United States National Trainers Association, when asked recently what he considered to be the main fundamentals of good athletic nutrition said, "I observe the following fundamental rules:

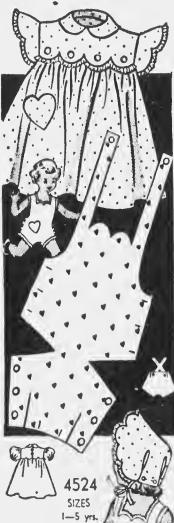

(1) Make your meal whole grain if you prefer white bread, sure it is enriched white bread.

(2) Eat four times as much protein food as any other type. Protein foods are: milk, meat, cheese (great for athletes), whole grain cereals and breads; ice cream, fresh nuts. Athletes can't drink too much milk when in heavy training. Cheese is good for the nerves.

(3) Go real heavy on those fresh fruits, especially oranges.

APPETIZING RECIPES ::

These quick Hot Cross Buns are made with baking powder, bran, currants and honey. Serve them at breakfast or afternoon tea.

Honey Hot Cross Buns

One half cup ready-to-eat bran, ½ cup currants, ¾ cup milk, ¼ cup honey, 2 cups sifted flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, ½ cup shortening, 1 tbsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. melted butter, 1 cup confectioners' sugar, 2 tbsp. milk, ½ tsp. vanilla.

Combine ready-to-eat bran, currants, milk and honey. Allow to stand 10 minutes. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Add first mixture, stirring until a soft dough is formed. Turn onto floured board, knead lightly and shape into roll. Divide into 12 equal pieces. Shape into balls and flatten out to ½ inch thickness. Place on greased pan, brush with a mixture of honey and melted butter, and bake in preheated moderate oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. As soon as buns come from oven, make a cross on the top with confectioners' sugar icing. Yield: 12 buns (2½ inches in diameter).

Appropriation For Northern Highway

Eiling Kramer, M.L.A., The Battlefords, said recently that J. H. Brocklebank, Minister of Natural Resources, has announced a $75,000 appropriation for construction of a proposed highway terminating at Green Lake.

In the Old Testament, and the New Testament as well, it is Moses who is recognized as the founder and builder of the national and religious life, following the return of the Hebrews from Egypt. One cannot tell even consulting the seemingly best authorities, how much of Jewish law and ritual was based upon the original commandment laid by Moses. But it is notable that the authority of Moses was attributed to whatever he made later.

Though such measures seem unjust, the principle of unity is sound. No nation with intermingled races can strong unless all elements are built into one united people, as they are in this country and Canada.

Moses built upon the foundation of religion. The harshness of various laws was designed to prevent idolatry and the worship of the people after strange gods. The integrity of religious life, allowing for freedom of faith, must be as valid today as it was then.

Much, undoubtedly, in law and ritual was directed toward the maintenance of good health in the individual and society.

Much, also, was designed to prevent social abuses the strong overriding the weak, antisocial acts of immorality and unneighborliness.

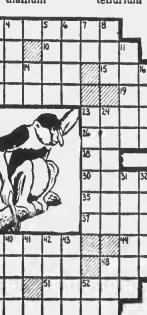

How much the world needs a Moses!

Cattle Raising Still Big Industry In Alberta

CALGARY.—The great ranches of the Rocky Mountain foothills and plains of Alberta have disappeared, and the long cattle drives to market are remembered now only by a few oldtimers. Yet, cattle raising still is a big industry in Alberta. There are more cattle in the province now than ever before.

In a normal week, about 5,000 cattle are delivered to the stockyards in Calgary, heart of the ranching country. Cash returns to stock producers in 1953 totalled more than $35,500,000.

Each day truck loads with cattle stream into Calgary from farms and ranches within a 30-mile radius. At the start of the week, cattle numbered 100,000, up for blocks leading to the 22-acre stockyards and its 700 pens.

In 1953, some 264,000 cattle and calves, 146,000 hogs, 41,000 sheep and 1,300 horses were delivered to the yards. Actual sales included 232,000 cattle and calves, 85,000 hogs and 11,000 sheep. The remainder were handled for feed and water on through-billing.

On the peak day last year, 418 trucks stopped at the yards, followed by 353 trucks the next day.

In the two days 1,010 individual shippers delivered 5,300 cattle and calves, 1,000 hogs and 400 sheep.

Burn Trash Carefully Fire Chief Advises

Get rid of rubbish and trash regularly and often. Fire Chief Montalbetti advised today in a Spring Clean-Up message to householders.

Those who can, he urged to take advantage of municipal rubbish collection services or to use municipal trash disposal areas.

Don't burn trash yourself unless there's no other way of disposing of it, Chief Montalbetti warned. For those who must burn their own rubbish, the Chief had this advice:

"First get a fire permit from the fire department or fire warden.

Then pick a spot well away from house and garage and clear a strip of earth around the pile to be burned. The same advice applies to wire and sheet metal trash burners. Don't try to burn too much at one time. Have a few pails of water ready and a rake or wet broom. When you're done, soak embers with water stir to be sure all embers are wet. A gust of wind can fan the embers that are seemingly dead . . . make sure that all fires are thoroughly out before you leave.

Waterton Lakes National Park should have its biggest day ever on June 26th. All the Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade of Southern Alberta are planning together to have a grand jubilee. It is planned to have a parade including Indians, Mounties, the R.C.A.F. Band and horses. A ceremony at the site of Oil City on the Akamina Highway will dedicate a memorial marking the location of one of the first oil wells in Alberta.

During the day there will be fishing rodeo, Indian games, boat races, a barbecue and a big square dance.

It is anticipated that thousands of Southern Albertans as well as many of our friends from across the line will be in Waterton for the big day. An endeavour is being made to have special busses operate to Waterton on June 26th so that everyone will have transportation facilities available to take them to Waterton.

Industries, Labor Dept. Seeks Help In Placing Miners

J. E. Oberholzer, deputy minister of industries and labor, has appealed to the Lethbridge chamber of commerce for its co-operation in solving the employment problem created by the shutdown of some Alberta coal mines.

In a letter printed in the latest edition of the chamber's Monthly Bulletin, Mr. Oberholzer asked members to contact the local branch of the national employment service if and when job vacancies occurred, especially in the construction industry or when any particular group of jobs materialized which could be filled by unemployed miners.

Mr. Oberholzer stated that although the national employment service has all the men registered they do not always learn of job openings on particular projects.

If any particular group of jobs was available in the area the chamber could also contact the industries and labor department or John Ferguson, director of immigration, department of economic affairs in Edmonton, he added.
